

Simpson Thacher Expands European Disputes Practice

London and New York—February 7, 2024—Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP announced today that David Edwards will join the Firm’s London office as a Partner in the Litigation Department. David will co-lead the Firm’s European disputes practice alongside Tyler Robinson.

“David’s versatility and track record of success for clients on a wide range of high-stakes disputes in English courts, arbitration tribunals and other forums will help to expand our ability to provide clients with strategic advice on some of their most important multijurisdictional matters,” said Alden Millard, Chair of Simpson Thacher’s Executive Committee. “David will be an excellent addition to our preeminent Litigation Department, and we are excited to welcome him to the Firm.”

Recognized among the world’s leading practitioners advising on disputes and arbitrations by The Legal 500, Who’s Who Legal and Euromoney, David counsels clients on a variety of matters, including shareholder disputes, tax litigation, insurance-related disputes and other regulatory concerns. His clients include major global companies, sponsors, financial institutions and ultra-high-net-worth individuals on matters across numerous industries, including energy and infrastructure, telecom, healthcare and pharmaceuticals, banking and finance, cryptocurrency, commodities and trusts. David also advises clients on international corporate crisis and strategy matters, as well as with respect to ESG-related issues.

“David has a stellar reputation for developing novel strategies and delivering results for clients confronting complex cross-border disputes, and his hire marks an important investment in our growing disputes team in London,” said Lynn Neuner, Co-Chair of Simpson Thacher’s Litigation Department. “He is also a natural fit for our global Litigation Department, where we pride ourselves on our collaborative and innovative approach,” added Jonathan Youngwood, Co-Chair of Simpson Thacher’s Litigation Department.

Jason Glover, Head of Simpson Thacher’s London office, added, “David’s extensive, multidimensional experience will provide additional capabilities that support our growing London office, and will broaden our global Litigation platform to the benefit of our client base.”

Simpson Thacher’s Global Litigation Department represents a wide range of sophisticated clients, including corporations, financial institutions, boards, audit and special committees, and senior executives in their most significant matters. The Firm leverages its substantial bench of talent and broad experience to effectively handle litigations, government and internal investigations, arbitrations and cross-border disputes in Europe, North and South America and Asia.
