

Simpson Thacher Adds Leading Energy Lawyer in Houston

Houston—February 8, 2021—Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP announced today that Shamus Crosby has joined the Firm’s Houston office as a Partner.

“Shamus has a tremendous diversity and depth of experience advising on high-profile deals in the energy market and we are excited to welcome him to the Firm,” said Bill Dougherty, Chairman of Simpson Thacher’s Executive Committee. “His addition will further enhance our ability to provide our energy and infrastructure clients with the exceptional service and sophisticated, practical advice that is the hallmark of Simpson Thacher.”

Shamus advises private equity sponsors, institutional investors and strategic companies on mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, financings and general corporate matters.

Robert Rabalais, Head of the Firm’s Houston office, added, “Shamus has exceptional experience advising some of the most sophisticated energy industry participants on highly complex and significant acquisition transactions. He will be an excellent complement to our incredibly talented team in Houston.”

“I am thrilled to be joining Simpson Thacher,” said Shamus. “They have an excellent reputation for advising on some of the most interesting and impactful deals in the market, and I am excited to have the opportunity to work with such a stellar team of lawyers.”

Simpson Thacher’s Houston office offers clients a compelling combination of energy and infrastructure industry knowledge, deep transactional experience and exceptional talent. The Houston team has extensive experience in infrastructure, exploration and production, midstream, refining and petrochemicals, oil field services, renewable energy and utilities. Houston attorneys partner with colleagues across the Simpson Thacher platform to provide market-leading corporate transactional advice.
